This week, there are no required pre-lecture readings or questions.

However, we have provided a page with some additional optional practice questions about environment diagrams using an interface being developed by a student as part of an MEng thesis project. These questions are completely optional and will not affect your grade in any way, but they may serve as useful additional practice with environment diagrams leading up to the quiz, and they will also help us gather information about the tool itself.
